Local businesses encouraged to get involved with Moreton Show

This year's Moreton Show takes place on Saturday 4th September 2010 and is expected to attract in the region of 20,000 visitors and exhibitors. It offers the perfect day out for the whole family, and with over 200 trade stands there is something for everyone.

The show presents local businesses with an excellent opportunity to raise public awareness of their products or services through sponsorship on the day. New sponsorship coordinator Tim Sullivan is encouraging local businesses to find out how an association with the show can benefit them. The show presents local businesses with an excellent opportunity to raise public awareness of their products or services through sponsorship on the day. New Show sponsorship coordinator Tim Sullivan, who volunteers for the Show, is encouraging local businesses to contact find out how an association with the show can benefit them.

"We have received fantastic support from our existing sponsors over the years and we hope to continue with these important relationships. As the Show continues to thrive and develop we are delighted to be able to offer additional opportunities for local businesses to become associated with this fabulous event" says Tim.

Tim adds "There are a wide variety of opportunities available including prominent trade stand space, sponsorship of this year's main attraction Guido Louis and the Rockin' Horse Stunt Show, and sponsorship of a number of other events, competitions and attractions. Individually tailored packages are available for as little as £100".

If you would like to discuss how you can associate your brand with one of the largest one-day agricultural shows in the UK please call Tim Sullivan on 07970 099595 or the Moreton Show Office on 01608 651908.
