

PRESS RELEASE

24.05.2010

Entering Moreton Show classes is now only a click away!

A new online entry system purpose built for Moreton Show entries is now live. The system makes it much quicker and easier to enter classes for this years' Show which will be held on Saturday 4th September. Entrants will be protected using a secure online payment system.

A full schedule of Home and Garden classes is now available online at www.moretonshow.co.uk/schedules or from the show office. This year sees the launch of a new class for the best allotment gardens, sponsored by Martin Elliot. Entries will be available for other classes, including a new horse class for Under 21 Show Jumping, shortly.

Moreton Show chairman Nickki Eden comments, "The easy to use online entry system will make entering even simpler, and is one of many new ideas that will strengthen the show in future. So don't forget to put the date in your diary for Saturday 4th September."

The bespoke online entry system, created for the Show by local business Cotswold Web Services (www.cotswoldwebservices.co.uk), also enables prospective trade exhibitors to book their own stands online quickly and efficiently.

Go to www.moretonshow.co.uk to access the shows new online entry system, and for full details of this years' show.
