

PRESS RELEASE

19.07.2010

Moreton Show needs you!

Can you spare an hour a week to help out with a worthy cause? Moreton Show organisers are looking for willing volunteers, young or old – and with just over six weeks until show day there's plenty to do!

Those wishing to help can get involved in a wide variety of ways – including in the office in the build up to the show, as a steward on the day of the show, or even by joining one of the various show committees. Organisers are also looking for confident commentators, ideally with knowledge of countryside matters, to introduce the array of attractions and entertain the crowds at the Attractions Arena.

“You don't have to come from a farming background to help out with the show. We're always keen to get more local people involved with the show and this is a perfect opportunity to give something back to the community” comments Moreton Show Chairman Nickki Eden, a volunteer herself.

“Even if you can just make a good cup of tea we can find something for everyone, and you don't have to commit a great deal of time – even an hour of help will be gratefully received!”

One of the many hundred volunteers who help out with the show is local designer Martin Street who has designed a whole new look for the show including schedules, the show leaflet and website.

The 2010 Moreton Show will be held on Saturday 4th September. Anyone who is looking to find out more about volunteering or to offer their time should contact Andy Moran in the Show Office on 01608 651908 or email andrew@moretonshow.co.uk
